

Resume + application starter sheet

Good for:
first resumes
activity lists essay brainstorming internship or volunteer applications

Use real service, projects, activities, and early work to build a first resume, activity list, or college application first pass.

1 | GATHER HONEST MATERIAL

Pick two or three real experiences. Do not worry about sounding impressive yet. Write what happened.

Experience

Project, club, job, volunteering, family responsibility

What you did

Tasks, tools, people helped, responsibilities handled

Proof

Hours, event, class, role, result, or person who can confirm it

Deadline

Job, program, scholarship, or college-app date

Materials

Resume, activity list, prompt, draft, or application form

Concern

What feels confusing, weak, scattered, or unfinished

2 | TURN ONE EXPERIENCE INTO APPLICATION LANGUAGE

BEFORE

Helped at library events

AFTER

Supported teen events by organizing materials, welcoming participants, and helping staff keep activities on schedule.

Stronger application language names what the student handled. It does not invent titles, awards, numbers, or outcomes.

3 | BUILD A FIRST PASS

Resume or activity list

- Most relevant experiences first
- Specific bullets with action verbs
- Skills the student can explain
- One clean page when possible

Essay or application notes

- Two or three truthful essay angles
- One prompt or deadline to prioritize
- Missing facts to confirm
- Student voice stays in the writing

Need a focused first pass? Resume/activity/timeline organization starts at $45.

No essay ghostwriting, invented details, application submission, job guarantees, or admissions guarantees.

For minors, involve a parent or guardian. Do not send SSNs, IDs, passwords, bank details, or private records.

nadeemskamel@gmail.com